

ABOUT THE POTATO SCALE

Seed Potatoes Here Are Affected By This Fungus Growth, Which Will Poison Potato Fields.

An examination will reveal the fact that seed potatoes being sold to Anderson county planters are badly affected by potato scale, and therefore are a grave danger to all potato growers. A planter said to a Herald man Thursday that unless planters go to the trouble and take the precaution to disinfect the seed potatoes before they are put into the ground they will so poison their lands with the fungus growth that it will be practically impossible for them to grow potatoes on the same land in the future, and that the disease will spread to other portions of their farms, crippling the productivity of the soil, etc., for years to come.

A bulletin from the A. & M. College, dealing with this grave danger to the future of the potato crop in Texas, gives a plan for disinfecting the diseased potato, which should be followed by every one planting potatoes if they would save their lands from the poison the diseased potatoes will deposit.

There is only one way to avoid infection if you are not now troubled with the disease. That is to disinfect the seed potatoes. If the land is now but slightly infected, try to hold the disease in check by disinfecting all the seed and by making certain that no scabby potatoes or part of one, or any small potatoes are left in the soil. Remove all debris of the potatoes and the potato plants when the crop is harvested and burn the debris. If your neighbor has scabby potatoes, do not allow his implements to come into your soil unless they are thoroughly washed and dried in the strong sunlight.

For growers wishing to disinfect large quantities, such as by the carload, special instruction will be furnished if application is made to Dr. Raymond H. Pond, plant pathologist, A. & M. College, College Station.

For those intending to plant quantities smaller than a carload the following method of disinfecting the seed is recommended: For every two gallons of hot water in an earthen or solved two ounces of powdered corrosive sublimate. Then dilute this hot corrosive sublimate solution with fifteen gallons of cold water. Place the sound, uncut potatoes in a sack and immerse the sack and all in the solution as prepared and allow them to remain upon a clean sod or in containers which have not been exposed to infection, but allow them to dry before cutting. The same disinfecting fluid may be used repeatedly and may be renewed by adding more according to the same proportions as originally prepared. This corrosive sublimate solution is, of course, a very strong poison, and will corrode any metal container, so that wood, glass or earthenware must be used. This solution does not deteriorate by standing, and may be used over and over again, so that if you have barrels with basal spigots a series may be planned so as to do the work rapidly.

infant when he is suddenly ill. The sturdiest chap in town usually loses his self-control, and is utterly unable to regain his condition with the common sense that characterizes his every-day actions.

For example: He comes home tired, eats a heavy dinner, and sits down to read and smoke away a quiet evening.

Suddenly he notices a weight on his stomach; then sharp pains around his heart, and a feeling of suffocation. Thoughts of "heart disease" rush over him, and in his agony he fears the worst.

His trouble was acute indigestion, brought on by overloading his tired stomach.

A couple of Dyspepsia Tablets would have given him instant relief—would have saved him hours of suffering.

Carry a package of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets in your vest pocket, or keep them in your room. Take one after each heavy meal and indigestion will not bother you.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets remedy stomach troubles by supplying the one element, the absence of which in the gastric juices causes indigestion and dyspepsia. They aid the stomach to digest food and to quickly convert it into rich red blood and material necessary for overcoming natural body waste.

We know what Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are and what they will do. We guarantee them to relieve indigestion and dyspepsia. If they fail we will refund your money. Three sizes: 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Palestine only at our stores—The Rexall Stores, Bratton Drug Co., either store, Oak or Spring street.

FOR SEXTUPLE MURDER

Howard Little Will Pay the Penalty In the Electric Chair at Richmond, Virginia.

(Herald Special.)

Richmond, Va., Feb. 10.—Unless Governor Mann sees fit to interfere, Howard Little, "the sextuple murderer" of Buchanan county, will die in the electric chair in the state penitentiary here tomorrow morning. The condemned man has abandoned all hope of receiving a respite. He is chiefly concerned about the disposition of his body. He wants to be buried at his old home in McDowell county, West Virginia, and has received assurance that the small amount of money he has left will be used to carry out his wish.

The crime for which Little is to pay the death penalty was probably the most fiendish in the criminal records of Virginia. For the purpose of robbery he wiped out an entire family of six persons and then sought to conceal the crime by burning the bodies of his victims.

The scene of the tragedy was the little town of Hurley, in Buchanan county. The victims were "Aunt Betty" Justis, an aged woman who was generally supposed to keep a large sum of money about her, her son-in-law, George Meadows, his wife and their three children.

On the morning of September 22 last neighbors discovered Meadows' mutilated body lying in the yard of his destroyed home. Two bullet holes through the body and a ghastly wound in the neck, which almost severed the head from the body, gave the discovchair was destroyed when the state supreme court of appeals refused to grant a writ of error in his case.

erers their first evidence of the extent of the tragedy.

A search of the ruins of the house disclosed a sickening spectacle. The blackened masses of half burned flesh and charred bones of the two women and children were found beneath the debris, each body bearing evidence of murder committed before the house was destroyed by fire.

Bloodhounds were rushed to the scene and a posse started at once in pursuit of the murderer. Many signs pointed to Howard Little as the murderer and within a week after the tragedy he was taken into custody. Little's wife confessed to having washed his bloody clothing the day after the murders. She stated, also, that he had left their home about dark the night of the tragedy and returned the next morning with his clothes all bloody and torn, and said that he would kill her if she told anything about his condition. It was ascertained that he had borrowed a .32 caliber revolver a few days before the crime was committed, and returned it the following Wednesday with two chambers empty. The body of George Meadows was exhumed, and two bullets taken from it were almost identical in weight with the balls taken from the shells belonging to the weapon Little had borrowed.

Little's trial took place last November and resulted in a verdict of guilty and a sentence of death. January 7 was the date originally fixed for the execution, but Governor Swanson granted a stay of thirty days in order that the case might be taken to the higher courts. In the meantime Little was taken to Roanoke for safe keeping, as threats of lynching were made in the county where the trial had taken place. Two weeks ago Little's last hope of escaping the electric
